SAINT PAUL, Minn. – Interim Anoka Technical College President Dr. Shari Olson was named the 2011 “College President of the Year” on Saturday, April 16, 2011 by the Minnesota State College Student Association (MSCSA). Olson accepted the award at MSCSA’s Annual Awards Dinner at Breezy Point Resort in Breezy Point, Minn.

The “President of the Year” award is given to one college president annually by MSCSA. Interim President Olson was nominated for the award by the student senate on her campus and chosen by the MSCSA statewide student leadership to receive the honor.

Dr. Shari Olson has served as the interim president of Anoka Technical College for the past year. She has recently accepted a position as president of South Mountain Community College in Phoenix, AZ. According to the nomination materials, Olson made unparalleled contributions to student senate, bringing peace to a group in distress. Student government has grown in response, and the students are better for it.

The Minnesota State College Student Association (MSCSA) represents students attending the state’s two-year technical, community, and comprehensive colleges on 47 campuses advocating for more than 100,000 students across the state. More information is available on the MSCSA website, www.mscsa.org.
